

Around 4:30 am on August 26, 2013 two young boys attempted to rob a man in Southfield, Michigan. Both youths were armed. The man they attempted to rob was an off duty police officer. One of the young men was shot to death. His buddy ran from the scene only to be caught a few blocks away. There is no doubt the young man caught running will be convicted of second-degree murder for the death of his friend and armed robbery. He will spend 25 year in prison. This situation could have been prevented if this young man had learned to read and taught he did not have to steal to get what he wanted
